

Mercuri International

Taking Sales to a Higher Level

Sales Apprenticeships?

The Apprenticeship Levy: A Training Reform

UK apprenticeships are undergoing a major reform. From April 2017 the UK Government introduced a new tax – The Apprenticeship Levy – to help employers fund and train more apprentices. And traditional views on apprenticeships are set to evolve, with more companies investing in higher quality training for higher-level apprentices.

Read an article in HR magazine

Employers, training providers and learners alike are expected to significantly benefit from the initiative - but do you know exactly how it's going to work? Findcourses, a search engine for professional development courses, has put together an overview of the proposed plans to help you get to grips with what's to come.

UK Apprenticeship Levy & Reform by FindCourses

www.mercuri.net